

Max International:

Unparalleled Products, Unequaled Opportunity!

Experts have defined the network marketing industry as a “people attraction” business. In contemplation of that definition, there really is no other way to explain how Max International has gathered so much momentum in the last 18 months. The attraction to Max is at an uncanny level, and the good news is that this momentum is based on principles that are real, and substance that is solid.

Max International combines an unprecedented business with unparalleled products which together, form an unequal opportunity.

It is important to me that each of you know how unique and powerful each of the Max International products are. This is important because if you are in the “people attraction” business, you have to believe that you represent something that people will want—something that provides a unique solution for people. You have to believe that what you have is the best of its kind.

Max International products are not only unique in design, but their ability to yield benefits is establishing new standards of performance across the nutrition industry.

MaxGXL®

Science has been charting the many roles and irreplaceable importance of glutathione for over 100 years. However, it wasn’t until MaxGXL came along that the benefits of glutathione seem to have really been made available to the masses. Max Associates are the beneficiaries of a perfect product, at the perfect time.

To look why this product is so revolutionary, we need to look to its inventor Dr. Robert H. Keller. I have come to respect Dr. Keller not only for his genius, but also his unquenchable passion to help people live a higher quality of life.

I have had several phone conversations with Dr. Keller these last couple of weeks, and his passion and commitment to MaxGXL and Max International grows each and every day.

He is sincerely appreciative to each Max Associate for their effort and passion to spread the word about MaxGXL.

Max N-Fuze™

Dr. Keller has stated that although multivitamins and minerals are important, if they are not in the correct ratios, some multivitamin and mineral supplements may actually imbalance the MaxGXL formulation.

Max N-Fuze provides two very important solutions.

First, it supplies the perfect blend of vitamins and minerals you need that will support rather than disturb the function of MaxGXL.

Second, your body contains an orchestra of internal antioxidants. Although glutathione is the master antioxidant, there are three additional antioxidants that complete the internal dream team of antioxidants. These antioxidants are: superoxide dismutase (SOD), catalase (CAT), and coenzyme Q10 (CoQ10). Max N-Fuze supplies the nutrients needed to support the production of these remaining three antioxidants.

The extraordinary design component to this formulation is the introduction of a unique cellular transport design. Beneath the standard form of vitamins, there is an additional layer of vitamins, together with the N-Fuze proprietary blend that are true nano-sized particles. What makes Max nano particles so unique and effective is the fact that they are enveloped in ultra-purified water clusters. This technology keeps the nano particles independent from each other, improving cellular absorption.

Max N-Fuze is the first product ever to provide multivitamins and minerals and support superoxide dismutase, catalase and CoQ10 production with true nano technology in one formulation.

*"MaxGXL is the general. Max N-Fuze is the army. Together they form an invincible defense."
-Robert H. Keller, MD*

Max Weightloss Accelerator System Superior Approach = Superior Results.

FACTS:

- In order to lose weight (in a healthy way), you have to manage your hunger and burn body fat.
- Leptin is the master regulating hormone in your body that tells you when you are full. Leptin tells your body when to burn stored body fat.
- The Max Weightloss Accelerator System was designed from the ground up to support the leptin message.

- Dr. Ron Rosedale has been recognized as a world-renowned medical researcher and educator on the function of leptin. Following a thorough review of the Max Weightloss Accelerator System, Dr. Rosedale made this observation:

"My entire career I have worked with people having deranged metabolism and wanting to shed unwanted body fat. The way to alleviate this is to increase leptin sensitivity. The Max Weightloss Accelerator System provides the correct information and effective supplementation and tools needed to increase leptin sensitivity and thereby burn excess body fat."

The Max Weightloss Accelerator System works naturally with your body rather than at the expense of your body.

Max WLX™, combined with MaxGXL and Max N-Fuze, creates the perfect system for losing weight in the healthiest manner possible.

It is my hope that each of you will take a serious look at not just the opportunity, but also the responsibility that each of us have to take these breakthrough products to the masses.

On behalf of the Max corporate team, I want to thank you for your passion, your dreams, and your excitement about Max International and its products.

Best of Success,

Dave Bagley
